

Photography

Taking pictures takes an eye for composition and imagination. These photos were taken with angle and framing in mind. The top is of an overpass staircase. the grit and dirt behind the photo is emphasized with it being rendered black and white and a change to its levels. The two to the right have dramatic angles and photoshop distortion.